PRINCE EDWARD NOW DUKE OF CORNWALL

ONDON .- Prince Edward, eldest son of King George and heir apparent to the throne, who is known in his family circle as "David," is not yet prince of Wales, though his father of course will confer that title on him later. However, the lad became, immediately on the death of King Edward, duke of Cornwall and the possessor of immense landed estates that yield a very large revenue. By statute, the duke of Cornwall is subject to no minority, so the boy could, if he wished, take his seat in the house of lords at once and cast his vote. The duke of Cornwall must be a son of the sovereign as well as heir apparent. Prince Edward. like his father, is having a thorough training in the navy.

The train is first and foremost missionary. Britain, as well as Wales, is in outer darkness from the point of view of the scientific poulterer, and in his dialect requires above all things instruction in "candling." The charge is that Wales does not know a good fowl when it sees it, which is seldom. It is innocent of the arts of cramming and of trussing even such fowls as it produces. It has yet to discover the value of the breakfast egg, and is totally unaddicted to the necessary precaution of passing each egg in front of a bright light before handing it on to the consumer.

Welshmen are unaware of the discovery, which was well known to Roeggs" longer than the fertile. In short the poultryman's art is in a bad way westward.

Cambridge, Mass .- Harvard has officially put her O. K. on kissing. Dr. A. M. Willing to Pay for Rammer. When the British square at the battle of Abu Klea, in the Nubian desert, was penetrated by the dervishes, one of them attempted to spear a gunner who was in the act of ramming home a charge. The Briton brained the Sudanese, but the rammer head split on the man's hard skull. Next day the gunner was sent for. Mistaking the reason, and knowing from experience that soldiers are charged for government property which they break, he led off with: "Please, sir, I'm very sorry I broke the rammer, but I never thought the fellow's head could be so hard. I'll pay for the rammer so as to hear no more of the case."

They Surely Would.

A little American boy with his father was visiting a market in a Mexican city. He saw a little native girl with a small basketful of red peppers, of which she was eating one. His father was about to say: "She thinks she is very smart," as the son called his attention to it. The boy spoke up quickly, knowing what was to be said: "Pa, would those red peppers make you smart if you eat all of them?" His father replied: "Yes, son."

PROF. CLARENCE MARTIN

Popular and Esteemed Principal o First District School Retires For a Year's Rest

Twenty years continuous service in the school-room entitles any person to a reasonable respite, at least, from such a brain-faging profession. Of all the vocations, that of school teaching is the most exacting and responsible in the entire catalogue.

Prof. Clarence Martin, who has been the efficient Principal in the First District of Maysville's City Schools for the past seven years, voluntarily retires from his labors and did not present his name to the Board of Education on Tuesday night for re-election Mr. Martin has a record of over twenty years as a schoolteacher to his credit. Besides the seven years in Maysville he was Principal of the Dover Public School for a number of years, where he gave eminent satisfaction. No teacher stands higher in the minds and hearts of his scholars, and we will venture to say that no teacher and his human flock of boys and girls ever severed the tender ties of teacher and pupil with any more poignant regret. Thoroughly capable by nature and his twenty years of experience, Professor Martin lays down the ferule of school discipline and authority with the love, confidence and admiration of all his scholars and school patrons and Bifocal Lenses and finger piece mountings.

Professor Martin is a native of Ohio, but has lived so long in Mason county that we almost claim him as one of us. After a year's well-earned rest and recuperation Mr. Martin will further qualify himself as an educator by a post-graduate collegiate course. It is not his intention to quit teaching entirely. Once a teacher, always a teacher, but he proposes to keep in touch with the great cause and may resume the work in a year or so.

He has several fine openings for school employment in other cities, but feels the need of a rest for a while.

Mrs. J. C. Newcomb of Ripley was the guest of relatives here several days the past week.

Manager of the Cincinnati Reds Says Team Must Go After the Enemy

(Copyright, 1910, by Joseph B. Bowles.) No manager can make a baseball team win, or tell how to win. If a fellow is going to cut any ice he needs ice picks, and the first way for a manager to win is to get men who can deliver, and men of intelligence enough to take care of themselves. My theories in regard to what constitutes a winner are the only ones, and I use them in instructing my players what to do. I used them in pitching, and they worked out, and I believe any player will succeed if he follows them.

The first thing to do to win baseball games is to go after any one who does not wear a uniform that looks like yours, and go after him hard. Hand every opposing player anything that will make him weaken or show the yellow. Any time I can convince my men that they are going to win, and the other fellows that they are going to lose, I'll win a pennant.

Ninety-nine and fifteen-sixteenths of baseball is courage and nerve. It is more than that--it is what ball players call "guts"-which is courage with aggressive confidence behind it, and any player who has that sort of confident courage is a good ball player and a winning one, even if he boots half a dozen balls a day.

The best system of winning games is to tell the other fellow that you are going to beat him. Tell it to him before the game starts and tell him in a way that will convince him. You cannot convince him unless you believe it yourself. I keep telling them all the time, and I believe it myself until the game is over and sometimes even then.

as possible. Take chances; any pitcher is pure bunk."

chance to gain an inch of ground or a base. The player who takes chances of hurting himself seldom hurts either himself or his opponent and he will make a weak opponent run away. More players get hurt stopping up on their feet and giving up before they are touched than are damaged in sliding to bases.

Then claim every point and claim it quick. Holler "No, No" real quick and beat the umpires to it on every close play a la Evers. The umpire may be perfectly honest and square but on a close play the fellow who yells quickest is much more likely to get the decision. I do not believe in fighting umpires or nagging at them. I believe in yelling quickly. Yelling quickly beats yelling loud all to pieces. It is not cheating a bit, but simply protecting yourself on close plays not so much to get the decision yourself as to keep the other fellow from getting it.

These things, together with a little good pitching and perhaps one star pitcher, will win any pennant if carried out correctly and persistently, regardless almost of the mechanical ability of the players on a team.

"Ump's" Joke on Himself. Umpire Guthrie of the American association tells a good story on himself. "When I was a youngster I thought I could fight," said the umps. 'I had whipped a few of the town boys and the promoter of fights wanted me to enter the professional ranks, which suited me exactly. One day he asked me to meet him and fix up the match. We talked the matter over and I sized up my opponent pretty well. Then the weight question came up. The other fellow said he wanted to fight at catch weights. "How can I make catch weights?" said I. "I work every day and cannot afford to Ebbets Answers His Critics. The purse strings do not need to be loosened if they are stretched wider than most people know," said President Ebbets of the Brooklyn club, in reply to published criticism of his management. "The Brooklyn players are not only well paid, but they have been promised a liberal bonus in the event of their finishing in the first division at the end of the season. They will receive an increase of from 5 to 20 per cent. of their salaries, according to the amount of hustling done by each individual."

How About This, Johnny?

BENDER ON WARPATH IN

INDIAN TWIRLER SCALPS THE CLEVELAND PLAYERS-OTHER NO HIT, NO RUN MEN.

WITH a warwhoop that could be heard all over the American league stamping grounds and echoed through the camps of the National league warriors, "Big Chief" Bender of the Philadelphia Athletics unsheathed his tomahawk and scalping knife a few days ago and before he was through with his awful massacre the Cleveland Naps were tortured and

All but one of the Naps died three times under the tomahawk. Bender tled them all securely to the stake except Turner, who managed to slip the buckskin thongs and get to first base. Then when he tried to escape Renegades Thomas and Collins of Connie Mack's band captured him and added tion. him to the list of dead.

It was a hitless, runless game pitched by Bender, who is some kind of an Indian. Whether a Sioux, Comanche, Apache, Cherokee or of some other tribe, the Cleveland players hate to deprive anybody of the satis-fication that "only a dead Indian is a good Indian."

It was awful, say the war correas Lajoie, Flick, Turner et al., step at least. up to the plate with war club in hand and try to hit the ball as it sped with the swiftness of an arrow into the catcher's mitt.

Bender has pitched some wonderful games before, but this is his first nohit-no-run achievement. Not long ago there is joy in the camp of Comiskey's to be some pitching in the junior organization of big league circles this

The first no-hit-no-run game was pitched May 29, 1875, by Mann of Princeton against Yale. The pitchers who have accomplished the feat of permitting no hits by their opponents and the teams with which they played

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured numerous cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are two letters which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Fitchville, Ohio.—"My daughter was all run down, suffered from pains in her side, head and limbs, and could walk but a short distance at a time. She came very near having nervous prostration, had begun to cough a good deal, and seemed melancholy by spells. She tried two doctors but got little help. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier and Liver Pills she has improved so much that she feels and looks like another girl."—Mrs. C. Cole, Fitchville, Ohio.

Irasburg, Vermont.—"I feel it my duty to say a few words in praise of your medicine. When I began taking it I had been very sick with kidney and bladder troubles and nervous prostration. I am now taking the sixth bot-tle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find myself greatly improved. My friends who call to see me have noticed a great change."—Mrs. A. H. Sanborn, Irasburg, Vermont.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful -or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

What more proof can any one ask?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge.

Hair on Bald Heads Can Not be Hoped for if Hair Follicles are Dead.

Dr. Nott, the famous hair and scalp specialist, says:-

"Among the thousands of cases I have seen there are few authentic instances where baldness has been successfully treated. If there was any treatment in existence that would accomplish this result, we Specialists would know about it.

"It seems to be proved beyond doubt that dead hair follicles cannot grow hair any more than dead seed can grow live plants.

"We do know, however, that we can restore gray hair to its natural color; that we can stop falling hair and cure dandruff and other scalp troubles. I have used in hundreds of instances without one failure. I have also used Q-BAN HAIR TONIC for many years with invariable success, and I honestly believe that the use of these two remedies according to directions will result in a healthy scalp and a luxuriant growth of natural colored hair—even on bald heads, where some life remains in the hair follicles." Frankfort.-Every true Kentuckian viewed with heart full of pride the dedication of the new state capitol, for the capitol building of this grand old commonwealth is one of the finest in the United States and stands as a monument to the honesty and integrity of the people who made it possible.

The capitol commission, composed of Gov. A. E. Willson, Treasurer E. Farley, Auditor Frank P. James, Secretary of State Bruner and Attorney General Breathitt, arranged the dedication exercises. United States Senator William O. Bradley delivered the principal address, and snort talks were made by Gov. Willson, former Gov. J. C. W. Beckham and Mayor James H. Polsgrove, mayor of Frank-

Building Opened for Inspection.

Following the formal exercises the building was opened for inspection by the public. Gov. Willson and the other state officials received during the evening in the governor's reception room.

The members of the 1910 general assembly were all present and the majority of the members of the general assemblies of 1906 and 1908 who appropriated the money for the erection of the building were also present to rejoice with the citizens that so great a work has been accomplished and that no taint of corruption attaches.

A touching feature of the exercises was the decorating of the grave of the Rev. J. McCluskey Blayney in Frankfort cemetery during the morning by a committee of the Frankfort Business Men's club, as provided by resolution of that body in recognition of his loyalty to and his exertions in the retention of the seat of government at Frankfort.

The grounds surrounding the capitol were not entirely completed, but the visitors got a fairly good idea of the beauty of the approach to the building when completed.

On December 6, 1776, Kentucky 1814-16 (see illustration), was burned County was established by Virginia out of Fincastle County. In the spring of 1783 Kentucky was erected into a district and a "Court of Criminal as well as Civil Jurisdiction, coextensive with the district was erected," says Collins, the historian. The first court was held at Harrodsburg the same year.

First Convention in Danville.

The first convention looking to the admission of the district into Union as a State was held at Danville, December, 1784, and was composed of delegates from each militia company in the district. No definite results were secured, as the Virginia Legislature prescribed cepted by the Nation and Sister Comsuch restrictions as were not acceptable to the leaders of the district.

KENTUCKY'S HANDSOME NEW STATE CAPITOL BUILDING AT FRANKFORT.

Dedicated June 2, 1910.

INSIDE VIEW NEW STATE CAPITOL LOOKING FROM HALL OF THE HOUSE TOWARD THE SENATE CHAMBER.

Chesney, State Treasurer Henry Bosworth and Atty. Gen. Haves, together with Architect F. M. Andrews, decided that the grounds occupied by the old state house were not large enough, or that its location in the center of the city was not a suitable place for the new building.

Decide to Purchase New Site.

Accordingly, in 1905, Gov. Beckham convened the legislature in extraordinary session to consider the matter of a new location. After some weeks' consideration it was decided to purchase a new site at the extreme south limit of South Frankfort, about a mile from the old, and an appropriation was made to buy the forty or more acres selected.

Ground was broken for the new building in 1906, and the magnificent building was completed and occupied in less than four years. It is one of the most complete and convenient Capitol buildings in the country, many persons who are familiar with public buildings throughout the United States pronounce it without a superior for the purposes for which it was erected. The illustrations given herewith furnish but a faint idea of its grandeur, especially the interior views. The view from the front of the hall of the House of Representatives looking toward the Senate Chamber gives but a poor expression of the marble and granite pillars and balustrades, arches and grand winding stairways, which command admiration of all who enter the magnificent vestibule for the first time. The room where sits Kentucky's highest court is a marvel of beauty, but the architect and designer seemed to concentrate the power of his genius when he came to plan and decide upon the furnishing of the reception room assigned to the governor for public occasions. Our illustration gives some idea of the beauty of this room, but it is only to be fully appreciated when Commodious and Convenient.

The various offices for the departments are commodious and convenient. Nothing that would conduce to the dispatch of business or the comfort of the officials seems to have been overlooked or neglected. After many years of wishing and waiting those who have felt a pride in Kentucky's | state.

wealth and greatness are rejoiced that she is no longer ashamed to invite a stranger to visit her Capitol.

It is but proper to state that the completion of the building was under the administration of Gov. Augustus E. Willson, assisted by State Auditor Frank P. James, Secretary of State Ben L. Bruner, State Treasurer Edward Farley, and Atty. Gen. James Breathitt, and that they have been credited with having maintained the standard for ability and honesty established by Gov. Beckham and his fellow commissioners.

VICTORY FOR STATE OF KEN-TUCKY.

Washington.-The supreme court in an opinion written by Justice Lurton affirms the judgment of the court of appeals of Kentucky in the case of the Brown-Forman Co. against the state of Kentucky in its attack on the occupation tax. In its opinion the court holds that there has been no arbitrary discrimination against the resident rectifiers, and that the same business carried on beyond the state could not have been subject to a like tax. It declares that the tax is not upon the product, but upon the business of "producing the product" in the

"What are you doing now?" cried Mrs. Cozzens with spirit.

And as for William Cozzens, William Cozzens continued to eat his dinner, though in a guilty manner and as one who knows that he is in wrong

"I say, what are you doing now?" repeated Mrs. Cozzens.

"Can't you see what I'm doing?" demanded William. "Can't you see that I'm eating?"

"Oh, you're eating, are you?" inquired Mrs. Cozzens, with terrible sar-

"Yes, I'm eating, am I!" "Oh!"

"Yes! Oh!" "And what did you move your plate for?" asked Mrs. Cozzens. "Never mind!" cried William. "But I do mind!" cried Mrs. Cozzens; "I do mind! And that's the third time this week you've done it, "Well," grumbled William, "you shouldn't put so much gravy on my plate, and then it couldn't get over on the cloth. That's all I say!" "O, that's all you say, is it?" "Yes," said William, with dignity,

"that's all I say." "And you thought I wouldn't see it if you moved your plate over it, did

"Never mind!" cried William again. "But I do mind!" cried Mrs. Cozzens. "Why can't you be more careful? You are always doing it!" "O, forget it!" said William. "But I won't forget it!" cried Mrs. Cozzens. "And here's another thing:

You've got to stop dropping your cigar ashes all over the house!" 'Who does?" cried William. "You do!" cried Mrs. Cozzens.

"I know I don't!" cried William. "O, don't you?" "No! I don't! And you know right

"Mm!" said Mrs. Cozzens, more sarcastic than ever, "I suppose it's the bird, then! Yes! That's it. It's little Dick! He gets up in the night and opens his cage and gets at your cigars and smokes them! And as he flies around, smoking, he drops the ashes! Yes! Flips them off with his little wing! Yes! That must be it!" "Don't be a fool!" urged William, impatiently.

"No!" cried Mrs. Cozzens, "it's you that's the fool!" And having disposed of that constantly troubled point she returned to her bill of charges. "And here's another thing, too!" she cried. 'When you're through with the newspaper at night, you just fold it up and put it away! I'm not going to run around putting things up after you any more!"

'No?" said William. "No!" said Mrs. Cozzens, "I'm not! And the next time you leave your slippers lying around they'll stay there!'

"O!" said William. "Anything else?"

"And the next time you tie a bit of lettuce above Dick's cage just where from me!'

"O! I'll hear from you, will I?" said William, and drawing a great me from becoming a 'crabbed' old sigh he finished his rice pudding and said, "O, well! Perhaps I won't be here long!"

"Trust you for that!" cried Mrs. Cozzens. "I'm the one that won't be here long!!

"No," said William sadly, "I'm the

And he fell into a reverie as one who pictures the future, and when he spoke next it was in a very mournful

"You'll look over at my place, then," he sighed, "and there won't be any spots on the cloth. And you'll walk around and won't find any cigar ashes-"No?" asked Mrs. Cozzens. "No newspapers to pick upcontinued William, sadly.

"Well, well!" "No slippers-"

"No bits of lettuce hanging over Dick's cage-no William-no nothing!" And drawing another large sigh, he looked over at Mrs. Cozzens with gloomy satisfaction, as though he said, "Now, what do you say?" And as for Mrs. Cozzens she gazed back at our William with a look that said. "This is what I say," and just before William went down and out for the full count she cried in a brisk Deposing the Dalal Lama.

In the imperial Chinese decree deposing the dalai lama appears this curious paragraph: "A-wang-lo-pu tsang-tu-pu- tan - chin - cho - chia - chaiwang-chu-chio-le-lang-chieh is hereby commanded to be divested of his title of dalai lama, in order to show penalty. Wherever he may escape and whether he returns to Tibet or otherwise, he shall be regarded henceforth not otherwise than as one of the common people. The residents are commanded speedily to seek among children born with miraculous signs and draw their names by lot from the golden urn,' according to former practise. The name drawn shall be created the real hubil han (reincarnation) of the preceding dalai lamas and application shall be made to us for bestowal of a proper title and favors, so that the propaganda of the canons may be perpetuated and due importance may be attached to religious affaira.

A Quick Cat.

Some years ago the proprietor of a hotel in southern New Hampshire told the following story: He said that when he was a boy he had occasion to go into the garret of his house one morning and that the family cat followed him up the stairs. One of the windows was open, and when they entered the garret a frightened mouse jumped out of the window, and the cat, jumping after it, caught it in midair and, whirling round, jumped back quoting poetry is too often like sending an anonymous letter. A man resorts to it when he wants to say something and shift the responsibility of authorship."

"You never quote poetry in your speeches?" "No," replied Senator Sorghum;

L. M. Lloyd, farmer, R. F. D. No. 5, Maysvale, Ky., says: "I am only too pleased to tell of my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills and hope that it may be the means of helping other sufferers from kidney trouble to find relief. About five years ago my kidneys suddenly be-came disordered and for several months I was bothered by constant, dull pains across my loins. When I stooped or lifted, sharp twinges shot through my body and caused the most intense suffering. When I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at J. Jas. Wood & Son's Drugstere and began using them. They effected a complete cure, and since then I have not had backache or any other symptom of kidney trouble."

Failed in Health

"My mother died six years ago," writes Miss Ruth Ward, of Jerseyville, Ill., "and left me to care for six children. I had never been strong; and this, with the shock of her death, was too much for me.

"I failed in health. I was tired all the time and did not want to go anywhere, nor care for company. I had the headache all the time and such bearing-down pains. A very dear friend advised me to take Cardui, as it had done her so much good, so I commenced to use it and now I am in good health."

The Woman's Tonic

Women's pains are relieved or prevented and women's strength is quickly restored, by Cardui, the woman's tonic. You yourself know best if you need it, or not.

If you do need it, do not delay, but commence to use it at once. Every day of delay, only lets you slide further down the hill.

Don't wait, then, but begin to take Cardui today, for its use, no matter how prolonged, cannot harm you and will surely do you good.
